BACKGROUND DETAILS

Nicaragua's rich coffee culture is deeply rooted in cooperative structures, particularly to support small farm production. A prime illustration is Cooperativa Agropecuaria Reyna el Café de San Juan R.L (COOPAREC R.L), with dedicated coffee producers located in the municipality of San Juan del Rio Coco, Department of Madriz. These producers follow organic farm management practices on farms that are typically cultivated coffee on just a few acres of land intercropped with shade trees, bananas, corn, and beans.

COOPAREC R.L invests in critical infrastructure, encompassing road improvements and the establishment of local warehouses. COOPAREC R.L. also provides comprehensive technical support to farmers. This encompasses guidance starting with seed selection and extends to valuable assistance in navigating the certification process. Through COOPAREC R.L. producers gain access to credit and income diversification programs like projects to increase production of organic fertilizers or beekeeping initiatives.
