BACKGROUND DETAILS

Royal buys grade 3 naturals from Guji for their balanced character that typically includes dried fruit flavors, creamy textures, earth and chocolate, along with a typically great price point relative to other regions in southern Ethiopia. Grade 3 naturals are sourced from central processing sites, large estates, and often a combination of the two, in which "outgrowers", or local smallholders, sell to large estates who process cherry on site.

Brief History & Flavor Profile

Ethiopia's Guji zone is a distant and heavily forested swath of land stretching southeast through the lower corner of the massive Oromia region. Guji is heavy with primary forest thanks to the Guji tribe, a part of Ethiopia's vast and diverse Oromo nation, who have for generations organized and legislated to reduce mining and logging outfits in their area, in a struggle to conserve the land's sacred canopy.

Single Origin™ COFFEE INC

Compared to other coffee-heavy regions, large parts of Guji feel like prehistoric backwoods. Coffee farms in many parts of Guji begin at 2000 meters in elevation and tend to climb from there. The highland farming communities in this part of the country can be at turns Edenic in their natural purity, and startlingly remote
