BACKGROUND DETAILS

Colombia Norte Santander Province is one of the most mountainous of the country, with several national Parks and reserves. Proud of its native heritage and Colonial history. The traditional coffee plantation sourced are focused on semi-shade grown cultivation.

North Santander is the birthplace of coffee in Colombia.

I come from a coffee family. I am the 4th generation of coffee growers in my family, for about 25 years. My family is made up of my wife, Luddy Sther, and my 3-year-old son, Manuel Fernando. I also have two more children, Sara María (16) and Juan Sebastian (12), but they do not live with me.

There is a family on the farm that in turn worked with my father and has continued to work with me. One of the sons of the man who worked with my father does all the corresponding tasks. My vision is to standardize the quality of the coffee produced on my farm, to guarantee a commercial link with international clients.
